Public Water and Public Roads.

Mn. At the head of each auwai a dam is sagile across the head of the Numero river, or the head of the anwait is made lower than the river bed, so that when water is snarce and the river the lowest, what water there is will run into the auwai; and when water is but moderately scarce, much solicitude is manifested to obtain a constant supply for the kalo land, narives will watch their auwai's all night to obtain their supply of water, but if there comes a heavy abover, during night, or day, it is made neither the tuerness, or latterest, of any one to shur the water from these numerous nuwai's and send it down its

For many years past the Read Supervisor of this Island has been called to perform the duties of Tax Collecter for the Metropolic, whether because he is considered the only man in the district competent to perform the duties of these two offices, or for better reasons. ## HAWAIIAN GAZETTE

AN INDEPENDENT JOURNAL, DEVOTED TO HAWAHAN PROGRESS.

PUBLISHED AND EDITED BY HENRY M. WHITNEY.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 10.

THE anniversary of the birth of our Sovereign King, takes place on Tuesday next, when he will be 30 years of age. His Majesty will receive the diplomatic and consular corps at 10 o'clock. From 11 till 12 be will receive societies and individual citizens, the reception closing promptly at the latter hour. At 2 P. Bernder Book - Hear S. G. Wilder, Dr. R. McKibblir, M. the heat races will commence, when there will no doubt be fun for all, old and young, These national holidays have always been very popular with Hawaiians, and the coming Is consequented the deceme of the late it. ii. stacley, day will doubtless be as much so as any previous. We trust, however, that the habit of indulging in intoxicating drinks,-too common on such occasions-may be discouraged by all who have influence and authority in

> THE frequent and sudden deaths of not only natives but foreigners, attributable, in part or or wholly, to the use of ardent drinks, carries with it a lesson which ought to be beededthat rum will kill, in this country at least. While many in colder climates can and do habitually use stimulating drinks, from youth to old age, without apparently any injurious effects, here, no person can do so without undermining his health, and laying the foundation for heart disease, aneurism, or some of the many causes of sudden death. Especially is this true of the natives, who do not possess the strong system, muscles and nerves of the more hardy foreigner. When such men as prominent natives and citizens whom we might name, with robust constitutions, wilt and die suddenly under the influence of strong drinkwho of their comrades are proof against it?

HIS EXCELLENCY ELISHA H. ALLEN WILL leave for Washington in the outgoing mail steamer, under the same appointment which he held last winter-Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary. That the presence of a representative of this government will be needed there at the opening of the next session of Congress, there can be no doubt. We have urged the return of both of the gentlemen who were so successful on their previous mission. This, however, has been considered by others whose judgment carries more weight than ours, as quite unnecessary. We hope they will prove correct; and that the legislation now required to consummate the treaty may be promptly adopted. It will certainly be a happy termination of what has thus far been skilfully and honorably executed, with credit to America and Hawnii.

WITH a view to make the GAZETTE more acceptable to its patrons, we have secured the services of a lively and chatty European correspondent, whose familiar style and initials can be recognized by most readers. The second of her letters appears in to-day's paper, and though her notes of what she sees and hears are necessarily brief, they will prove doubtless acceptable to all. It is probable that she will visit the principal countries of Europe, and perhaps go to Egypt and the Holy Land. But wherever her letters may be dated, and whatever scenes may be described in them, they will prove readable.

assage on her last week. She left here with sengers for the round trip. This goes to confirm what we have always held, that a commoin turn stimulates business, as all our merchants and traders can bear witness.

In THIS connection we may state that a survey has lately been held on the steamer Kilaues, the details of which have not transpired. We learn, however, that one result of the examination has been, to show that the steamer cannot be repaired except at a very large outlay, both on her hull, boilers and machinery, which will of course necessitate a lengthy interruption in her service. Rumor says $70purity, and for the purpose of preventing loss to the 000 is the smallest sum needed to make the werement and taxpayers, and annoyance, and Kilauen what she should be. The only alternasometimes great inconvenience to these doing busi- tive, therefore, will be to commence the conand as speedily as anywhere, if done by contrad, and can be made ready for the machinery as soon as the latter can be constructed, which we hope may be done here also. This important work must be commenced without delay. In six or eight months, a new boat will be needed.

England and China.

The threatened trouble between these two nations has by no means been settled, but has been referred to London for adjustment. It is well known that the bearing of the Chinese, government towards foreigners since the nccession of the present Emperor is different from what it was formerly. Prince Kung, who was formerly premier and sought to establish a liberal policy with foreign nations, has been set aside, and in his place is that cruel, manyanternal channel; the consequence is, each anwai is counselled Viceroy Li Hung Chang—who is she rous, and aswai's along its sides, become choked by leaves, woods and sticks, the water runs into and the Chinese armies by breach of faith at the og the road, often doing much damage in a very capture of Su-Chu. #### Trouble on Shipboard.

The United States Consul, Dr. Scott, has had before him the crew of the American ship Gatherer, who complain of bad treatment at the hands of the first and second officers. Sofar as we can learn no complaint is made against the Captain. The result of the investigation has been a compromise by which the rew receive their discharge from the ship, as we learn, in a way that entails no expense upon the ship and owners. The gist of the evidence is that the two efficers named have been in the habit of using bad language to the crew, cuffing them with their hands, kicking them at times, and sometimes using a belaying pin by way of emphasis. We heard a gentleman remark that he happened to be on the wharf when the ship was making fast to the dock, and heard the officer who was superintending the shore | gin !" gang call the men "whelps," This is all wrong. We have had some little experience at sea, and well remember the difference of service of the crews who were spoken to decently, called by their proper names, and those who have been used to epithets and cuffs. We hear captains remark that sailors have degenerated since their day as sailors. We maintain that sailers, if degenerated, have become so by the degeneracy of those who command them. Like master, like man " has its force on shipboard as well as in other occupations.

Much has been said and written, and much egislation has been brought to bear on this another. matter of the abuse of seamen, and no doubt with some success; but we are of the opinion that better results would obtain if owners were made to feel the effect of abusive officers through their pockets. So sure as an officer has the reputation of being costly by reason of owners will think twice before they engage such men. Many a ship has been fired or bored by a crew who could find no other uted to dangers of the seas.

During a recent trip to San Francisco on the travel on the steamer, is the number who took on the Vasco de Gama, we noticed that not an in Honolulu, and reading bills of fare for 25 cent din-50 cabin passengers and took on 8 more at way ger, and so quietly was the ship governed, the Eastern States. ports; also took from here 168 deck passen- that not an order from any officer could be gers, and 74 way deck ditto-in all 300 on the heard, either fore or aft. The time is now rapidly drawing near when the articles to be exhibited should be en route to their destination. January 5 is the day when the reception begins.

It will also be well if a list of those who propose to go to Philadelphia from this group can be prepared, so as to show to the steamship and railroad directory what travel may be expected, and enable it to decide what reduction in fares can be allowed to those who go. It is something touching and tender beyond description, and fills a listener with a " sweet melancholy" from which he unwittingly rouses to go out from dim, music-haunted aisles into a glare of sunshine, and the confusion of the thoroughfares.

Whatever be one's form of worship at home, -- if he has any,-it is, no doubt, his experience in travel that he enjoys attending the forms to which he is unused. But, after all the luxury of such experience, and we had it twice a day for several days, it did seem home like to get into a "dissenting" congregation again, and hear an earnest prayer poured out from the pas tor's own heart, and suited to the known, present wants of the people, and to join in sloging ' Sweet hour of Prayer," and " Come ye that love the Lord."

That was at Spurgeon's Tabernsele, and was followed by an excellent, practical termon, delivered distinctly, and without apparent effort, in tones that reached every one of his 7,000 heavers. We sat quite behind, but lost not a word. Think of the singing of that mass of people! His easy nanner of coming forward and leaning over the pulpit railing; his choice of common phrases and proverbs, as "look out," " mind what you're up to " not a bit of it," and " fine feathers do not make fine birds;" his use of funny anecdutes and illustrations make him popular with such an audience; and be, doubtless, in connection with his beloers, does them much good. It is impossible to give any idea of the scenes and cidents of travel in any short space of time, much less to give an idea of the varied impressions produced on the mind of the traveler.

One very pleasant conviction grows on me the longer I remain in England of the bonesty of the people -an honesty that is,-at least in country places, as the expense consequent upon the discharge of where one is allowed to saunter unwatched about rich old and shipment of new crews, so surely men's grounds,-that is, I say, above suspicion o others. We have been twice to llyde Park. It is not "the scason," even though Parliament was belated, and hastened incontinently at the last to get prorogaed in time for the opening of grouse shooting, the 12th August. Poor Plimsoil had a hard fight of it to secure his measure in the hurry for the hunt; but he came off by an apology on his side for the storm he made in the house, and by a compromise on the other side, to satisfy him and the public about his pet bill to secure protection to the lives of seamen, in the matter of correct inspection of unseaworthy ships.
